Our Expert

Matt Dickinson is a writer and adventure film maker with an enduring fascination for people who push the limits. The bestselling account of his ascent of Everest's deadly North Face was published as The Death Zone in the UK, and The Other Side of Everest in the US. The first novel in his adrenaline-fuelled series for teens, Mortal Chaos, will be published by OUP in March 2013.

TEACHER TRAINING EXPERIENCE

PART I – Seminar

To the Summit and Beyond!

In his workshop, Matt will present a thrilling audio visual journey to Everest, Antarctica and beyond! He will discuss a series of challenging ideas and team building concepts designed to give teachers the tools for enhanced personal leadership skills in the classroom, and improved levels of achievement for pupils as well!

As places are limited please enrol as soon as possible by filling in your details using one of the following links:

PART 2 – Challenge and Motivation Online Course

If you want to go beyond the summit, now's your chance! Join us for the Challenge and Motivation online course, a three-block moodle seminar in which OUP and Matt Dickinson will expand upon team building and leadership techniques for teachers. Through a series of presentations, videos and tasks you will delve deep into student motivation, learning how to set realistic goals for your groups and become a leader for them to follow, even in high pressure situations.

Registration information for the online course will be available soon at
